

Who We Are:

AVPA is a highly adaptable firm specializing in programming and design support for Crestron control systems and related software. With the flexibility of a small group and the processes of a well established firm; we provide an effective option for software outsourcing.

We are a multidisciplinary group of developers and engineers possessing decades of software experience encompassing several fields. As a Crestron Authorized Independent Programmer (CAIP) group for several years, we have completed over 350 projects.

Crestron Authorized Independent Programmer:

Through intensive training and real-world experience, a Crestron Authorized Independent Programmer offers a much higher level of expertise and familiarity with Crestron than other independents.

As part of Crestron's award-winning True Blue Support team, certified independent programmers are part of Crestron's extended family and receive a level of support equal to any member of the Crestron True Blue team.
